To Our Stakeholders

Message from the President

Four years from now in the year 2013, we will observe our 100th anniversary as a company.
We will continue to provide value matched to the times, growing each year as we resist being swept aside by changes in the market.

We are currently experiencing an economic crisis of a magnitude said to happen once every one-hundred years. According to an OECD announcement, global economic growth in 2009 is projected to be the worst since the end of World War II. Economic growth in Japan is expected to underperform that of the United States and the EU, and recovery in Japan is forecast to trail these regions as well. Among the advanced nations affected by this financial crisis, Japan has been identified as having been injured the least in financial terms. The expected delay in the recovery of the Japanese economy is attributed to the heavy reliance on exports—or in other words, the economy of Japan relies heavily on external demand. Worldwide demand during this global recession—particularly consumer sentiment in the United States, has declined precipitously, causing significant damage to Japan's export industries. Economic recovery in Japan is expected to occur during the last half of 2011, and with so many important customers in the auto, electronics, electric appliance and precision instrument export industries, Taikisha expects the business environment to remain difficult over the next three years.

While we are coping with this difficult environment, do not forget that Taikisha is treating this crisis as a unique business opportunity. This global crisis will slow the speed of economic growth over the next several years. But a major discontinuity will be created at the end of this crisis, pushing us quickly into a completely new era. For Taikisha to actively respond to this coming change, we must embrace fundamental structural reform, developing a new framework and new value through our employee resources as a Group. We believe that this crisis is a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to perfect our strengths as a company. We can use this crisis to build an unassailable support structure, which we can use to survive the era of reorganization expected to occur in the construction and capital equipment industry, securing an even greater share of the market in the process.

Four years from now in the year 2013, we will observe our 100th anniversary as a company. As I mentioned earlier, we believe that the business environment surrounding Taikisha will continue to be difficult for several years to come. To create added value and continue to grow every year, Taikisha must change in response to the environment, and resist being swept aside by changes in the market. It is a continuing contribution to society through value matched to the times, which will allow us to survive the next 100 years.

In addition to our current business, we will look to expand into neighboring business lines and to create new businesses that meet the demands of the next generation. M&A activities, new business alliances and other means for growth are all open for consideration as we take on new challenges.

Our future growth lies in consolidating the total talents, skills and energy of the Taikisha Group. We ask for the continued support and guidance of our customers and all of our stakeholders as we pursue our corporate objectives.

Q₁

Please provide an overview of the Taikisha earnings for FY09.

Despite difficult market conditions, Taikisha accomplished its goals in terms of profitability as the direct result of business process improvements and cost-cutting activities.

Prior to the financial and economic crisis that swept the globe, Taikisha operations had been progressing smoothly, with the Company forecasting favorable earnings results. However, conditions changed drastically with the circumstances that shook the worldwide economy. As a result, the Company did not reach our FY09 targets for orders received and net sales of completed construction contracts. Despite this fact, our efforts over the past two years to restructure our business processes have paid off. Business process improvements and cost “transparency” implemented organization-wide have resulted in improved profitability. The Company has realized gains in gross profit ratio, and has achieved our targets in terms of corporate profits.

Compared to other companies in the same industry, Taikisha has a high ratio of sales to customers in the automotive and electronic device export industries, which are both experiencing a significant negative impact from the current economic crisis. We have experienced similar trends in our overseas business. Under these difficult circumstances, we cannot expect a recovery in the manufacturing industry and capital investment until there is a recovery in global consumer sentiment.

Q₂

Given the current economic realities, how will the Company go about strengthening your management foundation?

Taikisha intends to use its overseas network to drive strategic global expansion, making a significant contribution to environmental impact reduction and energy savings businesses.

Taikisha intends to take maximum advantage of the overseas network that we have developed over the course of many years, strategically expanding our global business. Despite recent declining growth rates in China, India, South America and Southeast Asia, we expect strong growth in these regions over the mid and long term. Experts have predicted that Asia will represent more than 50% of the global GDP (approximately ¥5,000 trillion) by the 2030s, reaching a level ten times the size of Japan's GDP. This is one of the factors behind our strategic orientation in these areas.

In the Chinese market, we have extended a joint venture contract first executed 15 years ago, increasing our ownership ratio from 51% to 70% in preparation for aggressive expansion.

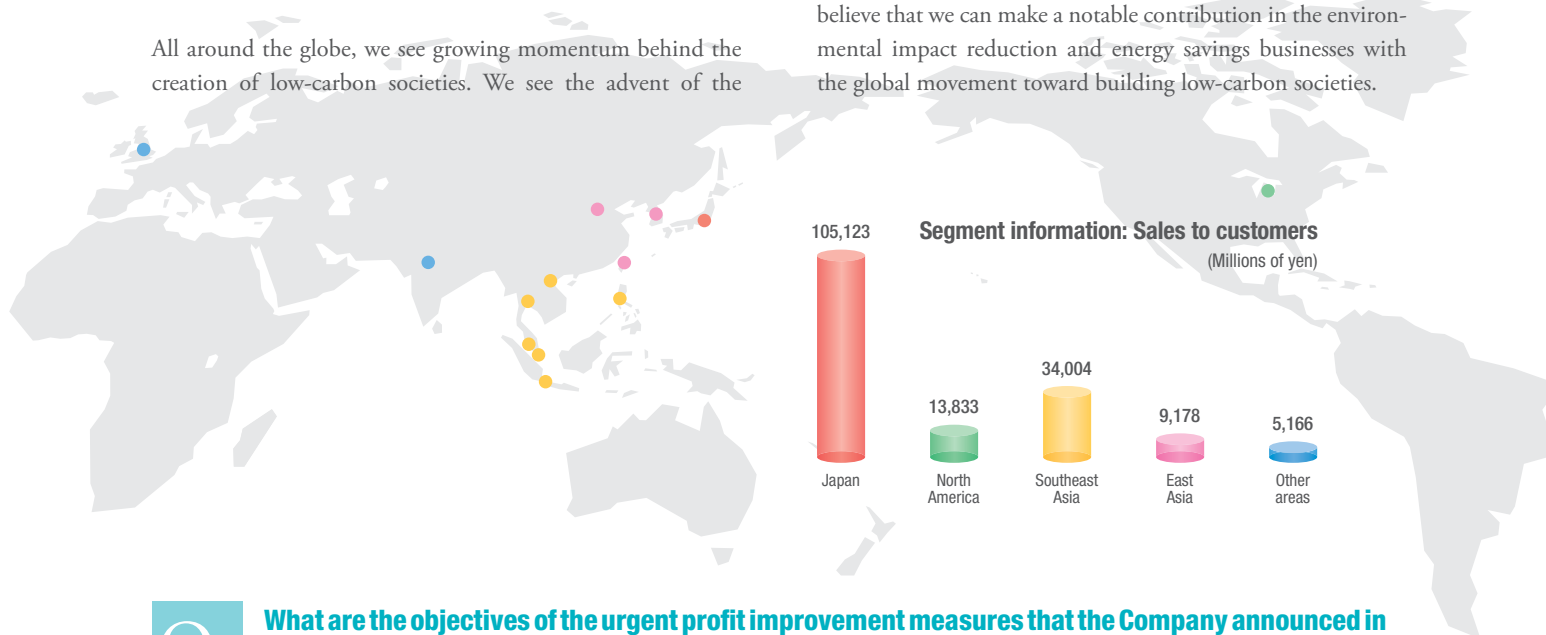

We have more than 25 years of experience in the Indian market, where we intend to engage in greater technology transfer that will result in deeper local market integration with the objective of winning more orders from Indian corporations.

During the current fiscal year, we will be centralizing the management functions of our operations in Indonesia, Malaysia and the Philippines at our Singapore subsidiary. This will create a structure that can flexibly respond to the local economies in the region. We have high expectations for high growth in Indonesia, which is quickly becoming a major, stable political entity in the area. Growth is also expected in other ASEAN countries.

All around the globe, we see growing momentum behind the creation of low-carbon societies. We see the advent of the low-carbon society as an opportunity to the environmental technologies that we have been developing over the years. We intend to capitalize on this trend, becoming more engaged in the environmental business fields than ever before. Enormous amounts of energy are required to operate HVAC equipment in buildings and factories and paint finishing systems. We believe that we can make a notable contribution in the environmental impact reduction and energy savings businesses with the global movement toward building low-carbon societies.

What are the objectives of the urgent profit improvement measures that the Company announced in response to the precipitous downturn in the economy?

A The goal of the urgent profit improvement measures is to minimize any short-term effects on earnings, while moving the Company toward a business structure that puts the Taikisha Group in a greater position of competitiveness.

The urgent profit improvement measures were put in place with the objective of enhancing the Company’s ability to compete once the economy recovers. The measures should not be interpreted as a negative reaction to a decline in earnings. Rather, the Company enacted these measures in response to the opportunity this environment presents to develop a business structure that will make the entire Taikisha Group more competitive in the market.

In April, we launched the first phase of the plan by focusing on reducing personnel and business expenses. While we have targets for mid- and long-term structural improvements, we also have objectives to minimize the effects of the global economy on short-term earnings.

Subsequent to the first phase, we will be rolling out an improvement proposal system to our domestic Group companies and affiliates beginning in July as part of the second phase of the plan. The activities of this phase will be conducted under the direct management of the Company president. Under the second phase of the plan, we will review each of our business processes across the entire organization from the ground up, looking to improve the quality of our processes, and building an even stronger competitive base. From a long-term perspective, our objective is to enhance our ability to compete after the economic recovery. Performing detailed improvements and restructuring is difficult to accomplish when conditions are normal. Taikisha will take advantage of this crisis to institute fundamental change. My belief is that the ability of a company to compete lies in the level of each individual employee and the quality of each business process.

The successful execution of the urgent profit improvement measures will reconstruct and strengthen the structure of both our domestic entities and the entire Group, including our overseas affiliates. Our goal is to be more competitive than ever overseas, establishing a greater market awareness of the Taikisha brand.

With an increasingly severe management environment, it would seem that Taikisha is faced with the need to make the most of its strengths. Tell us more about the strengths of the Taikisha Group.

We believe that the strength of the Taikisha Group is a bed of unique technologies that differentiate us from other companies. We are able to serve our customers overseas by providing these unique technologies.

We believe that the strengths of the Taikisha Group are embodied in our paint finishing system business (one of the largest global supplier) and our ability to utilize an overseas network that we have developed over the course of many years. Taikisha has operational bases in more than 20 countries around the world, and a body of construction projects in more than 60.

Our strength lies in our ability to maximize an overseas network developed over many years. This network allows us to offer unique, differentiated technologies to our customers. The increasing average age of the Japanese population, combined with a low birth rate, has resulted in a contraction of the construction market here. I believe that we can leverage our track record of successes to create growth in the emerging markets that will be growing in the future. Having said that, we still value the stability of the Japanese market.

Q₅

Can you address what you see as Taikisha's most important strategies for continued growth over the mid and long term?

“Globalization” and “organizational strength” are the key concepts behind our strategy for mid- and long-term growth.

The Company views “globalization” and “organizational strength” as vital strategic components in our business. Among these, we believe globalization to be the most important element telling the story of our growth in the future. By reorganizing Group management, and moving away from a centralized, top-down model toward a model of cooperative decision-making, we are creating an organization that is capable of globalization.

At the same time, we are establishing a culture and functional organization that continues to innovate in terms of business model and work flow. Top management has taken a stance of “detailed thinking” and “sending signals.” Taikisha offers opportunities for employee education, encouraging growth and creating a system and organization that foster stronger human resources. We are actively engaged in a program of improvement in our human resources, which form the core of our management team.

Taikisha is also looking into strategic business alliances and M&A opportunities as components of a long-term growth strategy that supports the management objectives that underlie our corporate philosophy.

What is your global business strategy going into the future?

We are looking toward expansion in the Asian market as our global business strategy.

Taikisha is looking toward expansion in the Asian markets—mainly China and India—as the major component of our global strategy.

As our customers expand globally, we will bring to bear our technological capabilities, offering world-class technologies at low cost. We will grow our Paint Finishing System Division market share through an active approach to both Japanese- and locally-owned auto manufacturers. We will also take steps to aggressively market our Green Technology System Division to other leading global firms in addition to Japanese corporations. Another key component to our global business strategy is fostering employees, including local hires, who can respond to the requirements of international business.

What environmental initiatives has Taikisha undertaken in the face of global warming and other environmental issues?

A Taikisha is making a contribution to the betterment of society through deeper research into environmental impact reduction and energy-saving technologies as we actively engage in activities that promote environmental conservation.

Taikisha has established a Charter for Environmental Protection/Basic Environmental Policy, regarding environmental conservation as a major part of our management plans. We have set up an “Environmental Protection Committee,” and implement related plans and activities across our entire organization. We have also established an “Environmental Enhancement Committee” within each division as a subsidiary organization. An Environmental Enhancement Committee member in each office participates, while an individual is designated to lead in the continued improvement of day-to-day activities that preserve the environment. More specifically, as a Company, we engage in environmentally conscious/energy saving design, green purchasing, the reduction of construction by-products, the proper disposal of industrial waste and CFC coolants, as well as other activities to reduce the burden on the environment.

Moving forward, we will periodically review and revise our environmental targets, raising the level of our environmental protection activities, and developing/improving energy efficiency, resource conservation, and systems for the removal of harmful emissions. Our contribution to society is our basic policy in the active pursuit of global environmental protection, as we continue to develop systems that incorporate considerations and implementation of high energy efficiency and product lifecycle.

What is your position regarding shareholder returns and corporate governance?

A We consider and implement policies that we believe to be appropriate for shareholder returns. We continue to pursue the ideal form of governance that will secure the trust of our shareholders.

At Taikisha, we believe that the return of profits to our shareholders through dividends is one of our most important management responsibilities. In our case, we have adopted a compromise that equally emphasizes earnings-based dividends and stable dividends, rather than a simple earnings-based model. To the extent possible, we will continue to return profits to our shareholders through a dividends policy that balances an approach between earnings and stability.

We will continue to repurchase Company stock as we see the opportunities, responding quickly to changes in the management environment, while considering the impact of such actions on the stock market.

Taikisha believes that one of our most important goals is building an unassailable management foundation through the establishment and continuity of corporate governance. We encourage the active and open exchange of opinions among our board of directors, our corporate auditors, our Management meeting, our Management Ethics Committee, and our Corporate Compliance Committee. Taikisha promotes policies that are flexible and practical, including the continued implementation of compliance training. Based on these activities, we believe that corporate governance is functioning soundly at Taikisha. We also believe that we benefit from the opinions of third parties. Thus, we embrace the participation of outside directors, outside corporate auditors, and outside attorneys who are involved in compliance activities at Taikisha, helping to ensure proper corporate governance.

We believe that we must never relax our efforts in the continuing pursuit of an ideal system of corporate governance appropriate to the scope of our company and our business. This system should work to support increasing levels of fair and efficient management, helping us earn and sustain the trust of our shareholders.

Taikisha at a Glance

Business Overview

Taikisha business operations are conducted through our Green Technology System and Paint Finishing System Divisions.

Both divisions offer clients high-value-added, environmentally friendly engineering services.

Green Technology System Division

The Green Technology System Division consists of an Industrial HVAC business mainly for manufacturing facilities and a Building HVAC business for office buildings and medical centers. The Division operates not only in Japan but also overseas through the company's overseas business network.

In the future, the Green Technology System Division will enhance its eco-friendly businesses, for example, the engineering business for improving product efficiency at plants by designing energy-saving facilities and businesses related to NMP (N-Methylpyrrolidone) solvent recovery with high treatment efficiency and organic exhaust gas treatment systems. The Division also will enhance its profit-earning capability by expanding its operations in the markets in China and Southeast Asia where economic recovery and growth are expected relatively early on.

The Green Technology System Division aims to realize a low-carbon society by continuing to develop unique technology as an engineering company and by refining its “energy solution capability” and “thermal storage technology.”

Paint Finishing System Division

The Paint Finishing System Division conducts business globally by mainly focusing on Japanese and foreign auto manufacturers and is proud of its world-leading market share in the paint finishing plant field.

In addition to making efforts to improve paint quality and painting efficiency for automobiles, the Division is currently focusing on activities aimed at realizing energy savings by reducing energy consumption of entire paint finishing plants and realizing CO₂ and VOC emission reductions in painting processes.

Although recovery of the U.S. market might take several years, we are expecting that the markets in other countries, such as China, India, Russia and Brazil, will grow substantially. The Paint Finishing System Division will aim to secure profits in these markets by increasing the number of orders from locally-owned as well as Japanese auto manufacturers.

NMP (N-Methyl-2-Pyrrolidone) Recovery System

EVs (electric vehicles) and HEVs (hybrid vehicles) are expected to rapidly gain in popularity as environmentally friendly vehicles. The energy source for these vehicles is a lithium-ion battery that stores electricity.

NMP is indispensable in the production of rechargeable lithium-ion batteries, but gasses which include massive amounts of NMP are emitted in the process of producing the batteries.

Taikisha is proud of its Japan-leading record of practical accomplishments for its NMP Recovery Systems that use our unique technology to recover NMP from gasses.

Taikisha's NMP Recovery System

Characteristics of Taikisha's NMP Recovery System

- 1 Zero NMP emission in the air because of high NMP recovery efficiency
 → Realizing perfect recycling of gasses
- 2 Recovery of highly concentrated NMP containing 10% or less moisture
 → Greatly reducing NMP recycling expenses
- 3 Preheated air supply using recovered heat from gasses
 → Excels in energy savings because of high heat recovery efficiency
- 4 20 systems have already been delivered, contributing to environmental preservation

|---|-----------------|
| • NMP recovery | → 23,381 t/year |
| • NMP emission reduction | → 746 t/year |
| • CO ₂ reduction by heat recovery | → 16,545 t/year |
| • CO ₂ reduction in purification process | → 1,258 t/year |

*Above figures are estimates based on the assumption that all 20 systems operate according to specifications.
 *CO₂ reduction value in purification process is obtained by comparing with other systems.

VOC (Volatile Organic Compounds) Treatment & Odor Control System

Regeneration Thermal Oxidizer (RTO)

RTO is a direct combustion exhaust gas treatment system that uses a high efficiency regenerative heat exchanger.

RTO, with thermal recovery efficiency exceeding 95%, minimizes consumption of supplemental fuel even for low-concentration exhaust gas treatment. With high treatment efficiency, exceeding 98%, RTO limits VOC emissions and significantly reduces CO₂ emissions.

In order to meet the requirements of various production lines, Taikisha's lineup includes multiple tower types, such as a two-tower type and a three-tower type, as well as rotary type.

The results for the fiscal year ended March 31, 2009

Earnings Overview

During the current consolidated fiscal year the global economy has experienced a sharp downfall, since financial crisis in the United States adversely affected real economy in various countries and a worldwide recession progressed rapidly during the second half.

In Japan, many industries including key industries such as auto manufactures and electrical machineries, also have been slowing production and conservative about investment in facilities and equipment. Accordingly, the business environment of the company took a sharp turn for the worse.

As a result, consolidated orders received declined to ¥164,738 million, an 11.7% year-on-year decrease.

Orders received recorded by the Green Technology System Division included ¥36,053 million (a 31.0% year-on-year increase) in HVAC for building construction under the favor of steady orders including new construction and remodels, and ¥77,124 million (a 16.7% year-on-year decrease) in industrial HVAC construction business suppressed by slow investment of manufacture industry, amounting to a total of ¥113,178 million for the division (a 5.8% year-on-year decrease).

Orders received for the Paint Finishing System Division totaled ¥51,560 million (a 22.4% year-on-year decrease), consisting of ¥12,609 million in domestic market (a 33.2% year-on-year decrease), and ¥38,951 million (an 18.2% year-on-year decrease) in oversea market, both affected by rapidly decreased investment.

Consolidated sales declined to ¥167,306 million, an 8.6% year-on-year decrease. With a decrease in orders carried forward due to an emphasis on profitable orders, and sluggish investment in facilities and equipment after the global financial crisis, Green Technology System Division recorded sales of ¥107,859 million (a 12.8% year-on-year decrease).

Indicators of Taikisha's financial position are as follows:

Orders received for the Paint Finishing System Division were affected by suppressed investments of auto manufactures. However, the division had secured substantial amount of orders carried forward which completed in the current fiscal year. Therefore, the Paint Finishing System Division recorded sales of ¥59,447 million, a 0.1% year-on-year increase.

While sales for the current consolidated fiscal year decreased by ¥15,728 million compared to the prior fiscal year, gross profit increased by ¥1,801 million, totaling to ¥22,298 million. This is the result of continuing efforts to avoid unprofitable construction orders for the past several years, as well as cost reduction by improved business process.

With respect to avoidance of unprofitable construction, accurate cost settings under past purchasing records, and proper consideration for appropriateness of orders were implemented consistently to focus on profitable construction orders.

As to improved business process, loss cost which arises from deficiencies in contract was excluded by ensuring exchanges of contract sheets and orders of construction with the customers and suppliers. Moreover, detailed analysis of past purchasing records and efforts toward lower purchasing cost, led to solid accomplishments in further cost reduction. As a result, a gross profit ratio of 13.3% for the current consolidated fiscal year represents a 2.1 point improvement over the prior fiscal year.

Selling, general and administrative expenses totaled ¥16,446 million, a ¥1,436 million increase over the prior fiscal year, mainly due to increased personnel costs. However, operating income totaled ¥5,852 million, a ¥365 million increase over the prior fiscal year, because the increase in gross profit exceeded the increase in selling, general and administrative expenses.

Cash Flows

Cash flows from operating activities during the current consolidated fiscal year increased by ¥1,537 million; however, cash flows from investing activities and cash flows from financing activities decreased ¥4,021 million and ¥1,526 million, respectively. As a result, the ending balance of cash and cash equivalents for the current consolidated fiscal year decreased by ¥6,670 million over the prior fiscal year, amounting to ¥25,267 million.

The primary reason of the increase in cash flows from operating activities for the current consolidated fiscal year was a decrease in inventories of ¥3,004 million, a decrease in advances paid of ¥1,846 million, and income before income taxes and minority interests of ¥5,694 million.

The primary reason reducing cash and cash equivalents was a decrease in notes and accounts payable-trade of ¥9,378 million.

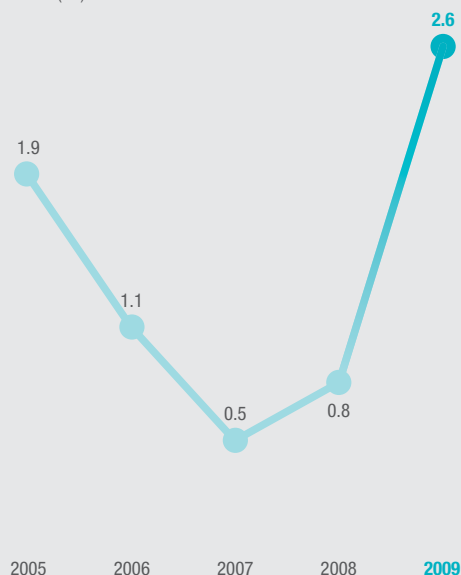

The decrease in cash flows from investing activities was primarily due to payment into time deposits of ¥3,681 million, and purchase of property, plant and equipment and intangible assets totaling ¥1,377 million, proceeds from withdrawal of time deposits in the amount of ¥1,728 million was the main sources of increased cash.

The primary reason of the decrease of cash flows from financing activities was a cash dividends paid of ¥1,575 million.

■ Risk Factors

The following Taikisha Group issues have the potential to significantly affect investor decisions. Note that the items below include forward-looking statements. Such statements are judgments by management as of March 31, 2009.

Seasonal Fluctuation in Business Results

In accounting for sales of completed construction contracts, the Taikisha Group uses the completed-contract method in Japan and primarily uses the percentage-of-completion method overseas. Completion of construction contracts in Japan is concentrated in the second half of the fiscal year, and consequently, the level of completed construction contracts and profits in the first half of the fiscal year tends to be considerably lower than it in the second half.

Construction Defect Liability

The Taikisha Group concludes warranty contracts with customers guaranteeing construction against defects for a fixed period of time after completion of construction. The Taikisha Group provides for a reserve for warranty costs for completed works to cover repair costs in connection with these warranties, based on past experience. However, these repair costs could potentially exceed the balance of the reserve.

Overseas Business Risk

Unforeseen laws and regulations, political instability, economic fluctuations and other factors in overseas where the Taikisha Group operates could affect business results. For contract payments paid and cash received for orders in connection with foreign currency denominated contracts, the Taikisha Group uses forward foreign exchange contracts and other instruments to hedge currency risk to the maximum extent possible. However, exchange rate fluctuations could expose the Taikisha Group to currency risk. In addition, exchange rates could affect the Taikisha Group's business results, because the financial statements of consolidated overseas subsidiaries are translated into Japanese yen in preparing the consolidated financial statements.

Accounts Receivable Collection Risk

The Taikisha Group comprehensively manages customer credit. However, construction billings may become uncollectible due to factors such as customer insolvency, which could affect Taikisha Group's business results.

Orders Received Below-costs Due to Price Competition

The intense competition in the construction business creates the possibility that orders received are sometimes below cost. In such cases, the Taikisha Group works to reduce costs to minimize the impact on profits. However, reduction of profits due to such orders could affect the Taikisha Group's business results.

Changes in Material Prices

A sharp rise in material prices when the Taikisha Group procures construction materials could affect business results if the Taikisha Group is unable to reflect the higher prices to orders received.

Changes in Private Capital Investment

Continued strong capital investment among automobile manufacturers and IT-related companies, which are major Taikisha Group customers, has resulted in increases in orders received by the Taikisha Group. However, a rapid drop in private capital investment in the future could affect Taikisha Group's business results.

Asset Ownership Risk

The Taikisha Group owns real estates, securities and other assets related to its business activities, and changes in the market value of these assets could affect Taikisha Group's business results.

Disasters and Accidents

The occurrence of unforeseen events such as natural disasters or accidents could affect Taikisha Group's business results.

Legal Risk

Taikisha Group is working in concert to ensure assiduous management of legal and regulatory compliance. However, any violation of laws or regulations by a director or employee of Taikisha Group could lead to results such as restrictions on the Taikisha Group's business activities, increased costs or reduced sales, which could affect Taikisha Group's business results.

NOTES TO CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

Taikisha Ltd. and its Consolidated Subsidiaries

For the years ended March 31, 2009 and 2008

1. Basis of presenting consolidated financial statements

The accompanying consolidated financial statements of Taikisha Ltd. (the "Company") and its consolidated subsidiaries (collectively the "Companies") are prepared from the consolidated financial statements which have been filed with the Director of Kanto Finance Bureau as required by the Financial Instruments and Exchange Act in Japan, and are prepared in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in Japan, which are different in certain respects as to the application and disclosure requirements of International Financial Reporting Standards. In preparing these consolidated financial statements, however, certain reclassifications have been made to the consolidated financial statements issued domestically in order to present them in a form which is more familiar to readers outside Japan. In addition, the accompanying notes include certain information which is not required under generally accepted accounting principles in Japan but which is presented herein as additional information.

The consolidated financial statements are not intended to present the consolidated financial position, results of operations and cash flows in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in countries and jurisdictions other than Japan.

The U.S. dollar amounts included herein are presented solely for the convenience of the reader and are calculated at the approximate rate of exchange prevailing at March 31, 2009 of ¥98 to US$1.0. The U.S. dollar amounts should not be construed as a representation that Japanese yen have been, or could be converted into U.S. dollars at the prevailing rate. Figures are rounded down to the nearest million yen and thousand U.S. dollars.

Foreign affiliates

Shanghai Dongbo-Taiki Conveyor System Manufacturing Co., Ltd.
Tianjin Dongchun-Taiki Metal Finishing & Conveyor System Manufacturing Co., Ltd.

Investments in unconsolidated subsidiaries and affiliates not accounted for by the equity method are stated at cost due to their immaterial effect on the consolidated financial statements of the Companies.

Unconsolidated subsidiaries and affiliates whose investments are not accounted for by the equity method

Taikisha Espana S.A.
Makiansia Engineering (M) Sdn. Bhd.

All domestic consolidated subsidiaries as well as Taikisha Engineering India Ltd., have a fiscal year ending on March 31, which is the same as the fiscal year of the Company. The other foreign consolidated subsidiaries have a fiscal year ending on December 31. For those foreign subsidiaries with a fiscal year ended December 31, certain adjustments have been made, where appropriate, in preparing the consolidated financial statements to reflect material transactions which might have taken place between their fiscal year end and March 31.

The full portion of the assets and liabilities of the subsidiaries is marked to fair value as of the acquisition of control.

Since the excess of the cost over the underlying net equity of investments in consolidated subsidiaries at their acquisition dates is immaterial, it is amortized when occurred.

(2) Sales recognition

The Company, four domestic subsidiaries use the completed-contract method of accounting.

TKS Industrial Company, Taikisha Canada Inc., Taikisha de Mexico, S.A. de C.V., Taikisha (Singapore) Pte. Ltd., Taikisha (Thailand) Co., Ltd., Taikisha Trading (Thailand) Co., Ltd., Thaiken Maintenance & Service Co., Ltd., Token Interior & Design Co., Ltd., TKA Co., Ltd., P.T. Taikisha Indonesia Engineering, P.T. Taikisha Manufacturing Indonesia, Taikisha Philippines Inc., Taikisha Vietnam Engineering Inc., Taikisha Hong Kong Limited, Taikisha Europe Ltd. and Taikisha Engineering India Ltd. use the percentage-of-completion method of accounting. In this case, sales are recognized based on the estimated percentage of completion of each project. The percentage-of-completion is developed using costs incurred as compared to total estimated costs for each project (cost-to-cost method).

Taikisha Engineering (M) Sdn. Bhd., Wuzhou Taikisha Engineering Co., Ltd., Beijing Wuzhou Taikisha Equipment Co., Ltd., Taikisha (Taiwan) Ltd., Taikisha Korea Ltd. and Taikisha do Brasil Ltda. use both the completed-contract and the percentage-of-completion methods of accounting.

(3) Cash and cash equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents in the consolidated statements of cash flows are composed of cash in hand, bank deposits able to be withdrawn on demand and short-term investments with an original maturity of three months or less and which represent a minor risk of fluctuation in value.

(4) Investments in securities

Securities issued by unconsolidated subsidiaries and affiliates are stated at cost, determined by the moving average method.

Investments in securities are classified into three categories: 1) trading securities, 2) held-to-maturity debt securities, and 3) other securities. These categories are treated differently for the purposes of measuring and accounting for changes in fair value. The Companies hold only 3) other securities.

Other securities for which market quotations are available are stated at fair value based on market prices at the end of fiscal year.

Net unrealized gains or losses on these securities are reported as a separate item in net assets at net-of-tax amount. The cost of securities sold is stated at cost, determined by the moving average method.

Other securities for which market quotations are unavailable are stated at cost, determined by the moving average method.

(5) Derivatives

Derivative instruments are recognized as either assets or liabilities at their respective fair values at the date of contract, and gains and losses arising from changes in fair value are recognized in earnings in the corresponding fiscal period. If certain hedging criteria are met, such gains and losses are deferred and accounted for as assets or liabilities.

(6) Hedge accounting

Gains or losses arising from changes in the fair value of the derivatives designated as "hedging instruments" are deferred as a component of revaluation and translation adjustment in net assets and included in net profit or loss in the same period during which the gains and losses on the underlying hedged items or transactions are recognized.

The derivatives designated as hedging instruments by the Company are forward exchange contracts. The underlying hedged items are trade accounts receivable and payable.

As permitted under the accounting principles generally accepted in Japan, when forward foreign exchange contracts meet certain conditions for hedge accounting, accounts receivable and payable covered by these contracts are translated using the contract rates of these forward foreign exchange contracts.

The unrealized gains or losses on the accounts receivable and payable resulting from the difference between the spot foreign exchange rate and contract rate are deferred and amortized over the term of the contract.

The Company has a policy of utilizing the above hedging instruments in order to reduce the Company's exposure to the risk of foreign exchange rate fluctuation. Thus, the Company's purchases of the hedging instruments are limited to, at maximum, the amounts of the underlying hedged items.

The Company omits evaluations for effectiveness of its hedging activities.

(7) Inventories

The cost method (the amounts stated in the balance sheets are calculated by writing down the book values based on lower profitability) is used as a valuation standard.

Starting with the fiscal year under review, the Company applies the "Accounting Standard for Measurement of Inventories" (Accounting Standards Board of Japan (ASBJ) Statement No. 9, announced on July 5, 2006.)

(8) Allowance for doubtful accounts

To provide for expected credit losses, a general allowance for doubtful accounts is established based on historical default rates for losses. A specific allowance for doubtful accounts is established on an individual account basis to recognize the risk of credit losses on individual receivables.

(9) Provision for warranties for completed construction

The Companies recognize a provision for warranties for completed construction based on past experience rates.

(10) Provision for loss on construction contracts

The Company provides a provision for loss on construction contracts, which are probable to result in and can be reasonably estimated with respect to total estimated construction cost over construction price among construction contracts in progress.

(11) Provision for directors' bonuses

In preparation for future bonus payments to directors, the estimated amount of payments for the current period is recorded.

(12) Property, plant, equipment and depreciation

Property, plant and equipment are stated at cost. Accumulated depreciation is principally computed using the declining-balance method.

Depreciation is computed by certain foreign subsidiaries using the straight-line method based on the estimated useful lives of the assets.

(13) Provision for retirement benefits

The Companies accrue an allowance for employees' retirement benefits, which is provided for in an amount equal to the difference between retirement benefit obligations and plan assets, less the unrecognized balance of actuarial differences, at the end of fiscal year.

Unrecognized actuarial differences are amortized using the straight-line method over 10 years from the year following that in which they arise. Their balances are ¥4,221 million (US$43,037 thousand) and ¥2,624 million as of March 31, 2009 and 2008, respectively.

Unrecognized prior service costs (reduction in liability) are amortized using the straight-line method over 10 years. The balances of unrecognized prior service costs are ¥2,145 million (US$21,887 thousand) and ¥2,439 million as of March 31, 2009 and 2008, respectively.

The Company and certain of its domestic subsidiaries have retirement plans of the integrated establishment agency type which are governed by the regulations of the Japanese Welfare Pension Insurance Law.

Plan assets at the end of the fiscal year calculated based on the proportion of the funded amounts are ¥7,465 million (US$76,179 thousand) and ¥9,965 million as of March 31, 2009 and 2008, respectively.

(14) Provision for directors' retirement benefits

The Company's domestic subsidiaries recognize liabilities for accrued severance benefits to directors and statutory auditors at 100 percent of the amount required by the Company's domestic subsidiaries policies for severance benefits on the consolidated balance sheets.

It was approved by the shareholders' meeting on June 27th 2008 that the Company abolished this policies and will pay its liabilities to directors and statutory auditors when they retire.

(15) Accounting for leases

Until the year ended March 31, 2008, non-transfer-ownership finance leases were permitted to be accounted for in the same manner as operating leases.

In the year ended March 31, 2009, non-transfer-ownership finance leases are to be capitalized in accordance with ASBJ statement No.13 "Accounting Standard for Lease Transactions" issued on March 30, 2007. However, the lease transactions entered into contracts on and before March 31, 2008 are continuously accounted for in the same manner as operating leases.

The effect of this change on consolidated operating income and income before income taxes and minority interests for the year ended March 31, 2009, is insignificant.

Depreciation expenses are computed by the straight-line method considering lease period to be useful life and scrap value to be zero.

(16) Research and development and computer software

Research and development expenditure is charged to income when incurred. Expenditure relating to computer software developed for internal use is charged to income when incurred, except when it contributes to the generation of income or to future cost savings. Such expenditure is capitalized as an asset and is amortized using the straight-line method over its estimated useful life of 5 years.

(17) Income taxes

Income taxes payable is calculated based on taxable income for the period.

Deferred income taxes are determined using the asset and liability approach, whereby deferred tax assets and liabilities are recognized in respect of temporary differences between the tax basis of assets and liabilities and those as reported in the consolidated financial statements.

(18) Accounting for consumption tax

Transactions are recorded at amounts exclusive of consumption tax.

(19) Appropriation of retained earnings

Appropriation of retained earnings is accounted for and reflected in the accompanying consolidated financial statements when approved by the shareholders.

(20) Change in accounting policies

"Practical Solution on Unification of Accounting Policies Applied to Foreign Subsidiaries for Consolidated Financial Statement" (ASBJ Practical Issues Task Force No.18, May 17, 2006) is applied from the fiscal year ended March 31, 2009 and necessary modifications have been made for consolidation.

As a result, compared to previous methods, operating income increased ¥162 million and income before income taxes and minority interests increased ¥88 million and net income increased ¥73 million.

The Companies keep a control environment which includes policies and procedures for risk assessment and for the approval, reporting and monitoring of transactions involving derivative financial instruments. The Companies do not hold or issue derivative financial instruments for trading purposes.

The Companies are exposed to certain market risks arising from their forward exchange contracts. The Companies are also exposed to the risk of credit loss in the event of non-performance by the counterparties to the forward exchange contracts. However, the Companies do not anticipate non-performance by any of these counterparties all of whom are financial institutions with high credit ratings.

3. Along with the revision of the corporation tax law, the Company changes the method of depreciation based on the corporation tax law. Tangible fixed assets acquired after April 1, 2007 are revised. After depreciation ends up to the residual value, it will be depreciated by straight-line method within five years. As a result of the application of this standard, there is little influence to operating income.

Treasury stocks are stated at cost in net assets in the consolidated balance sheets.

In accordance with the Law, proposed appropriations of retained earnings have not been reflected in the financial statements at the end of each fiscal year. However, dividends per share shown in the consolidated statements of income have been presented on an accrual basis and include, in each fiscal year ended March 31, dividends approved after March 31, but applicable to the year then ended.

Net income per share is based on the weighted average number of common shares outstanding during each year. The Financial Instruments and Exchange Act in Japan requires the disclosure of net income per share adjusted for dilution (assuming full conversion of all convertible debentures of the Company outstanding with related reduction in interest expense and exercise of all warrants), if any. However, since no convertible bonds and warrants were issued by the Company, there is no dilutive effect on net income per share.

The amounts expressed in U.S. dollars, which are provided solely for the convenience of the reader, have been translated on the basis set forth in Note 1 to the accompanying consolidated financial statements.
